

What are apprenticeships really like?

We've asked current & former STEM apprentices to answer some of the most common questions about stereotypes & myths of the apprenticeship pathway...

Are apprenticeships recognised by employers?

"You become more employable because you have experience of work and gain qualifications."

- Harry from Leonardo

Are there many apprenticeships out there?

"There are so many apprenticeships that it can be overwhelming, so do your research.

You'll definitely find one to suit you."

- Sofiane from SSE

Are apprenticeships proper jobs?

"You can work, have a real job, get paid, but you're still learning - it is too good to be true. The best of both worlds!"

- Jess from QA Ltd

Are you supported in your role?

"You have a fantastic support network as an apprentice!"

- Blain from Balfour Beatty

Do you get the opportunity to network with others?

"You get to meet amazing people along the way and get to develop your skill set to grow in the company."

- Cameron from SSE

What happens when your apprenticeship is over?

"Employers don't want to lose you - they want to keep you on as you're a valued member of staff."

- Heather from QA Ltd

Register now for the Insight into Apprenticeships Programme

To find out more please email our team at:

apprenticeships@etrust.org.uk

